Complete the AOHC Online Evaluations

And be entered to win a prize!

AOHC evaluations will again be issued through a service called Meeting Metrics. Because your input echoes through our planning for future years, we're giving away a series of Amazon Echo Dots!

At the end of each day during the conference, watch your e-mail for a link to evaluate that day's sessions, and a few days after the conference, the overall evaluation will arrive. Each time you'll have an additional opportunity to win!

Winner will be notified in May 2017.

Echo Dot is a hands-free, voice-controlled device with a small built-in speaker—it can also connect to speakers or headphones over Bluetooth. Dot connects to the Alexa Voice Service to play music, provide information, news, sports scores, weather, and more—instantly. Echo Dot can hear you from across the room. When you want to use Echo Dot, just say the wake word "Alexa" and Dot responds instantly!
